

2.9 million paper returns filed. As taxpayers become more comfortable with electronic filing and the obvious benefits associated with it, its use is expected to continue to increase in the years ahead.

Beginning with the 2003 individual income tax return, the Department of Taxation sent out post cards to taxpayers who either filed electronically or filed with a practitioner. This step saves the state on booklets and postage costs each filing year.

By maximizing electronic means to ensure the timely and efficient processing of tax returns, the Operations Center aids the department in providing quality service through capturing revenue to fund services while putting refunds back into the hands of Ohio taxpayers as soon as possible.

Tax Analysis Division

The Tax Analysis Division (TAD) serves as the research arm of the Ohio Department of Taxation. Although it is a small unit, the division serves a diverse range of customers, providing packaged data, quantitative analysis, and policy analysis to internal and external customers. The customers for TAD products include, but are not limited to, the Governor's office, members of the General Assembly, other divisions of the department, and all levels of local government.

Many of TAD's products are prepared on a regular basis. During each session of the Ohio General Assembly, the division provides revenue estimates for scores of bills that have proposed tax law changes and many proposals that never reach bill form. This activity is augmented by analyses of federal legislation that may impact Ohio state or local government finances.

The tax data series on the department's Internet site contains a number of data products that are updated monthly, quarterly, or annually. When the biennial budget is prepared, TAD provides assistance to the Office of Budget and Management (OBM) in forecasting tax revenues. Once the forecasts are finalized, the division then tracks revenue on a monthly basis and assists OBM with any updates of the forecasts. Tax Analysis also provides estimates of the Governor's tax proposals in the executive budget. In addition, TAD produces the Tax Expenditure Report, traditionally "Book Two" of the executive budget.

The division also produces or contributes to research publications that are meant as educational aids to decision makers. One such publication is the Property Taxation and School Funding report. In addition, the division produces statistics, tables, graphs, and interstate comparison data for departmental publications such as the Brief Summary of Major State and Local Taxes in Ohio and the Annual Report.

The division provides a number of services to local governments. It produces dozens of estimates of school district income tax revenues each
